

Train to Somewhere Relative Pronouns

File Edit View Insert Format Slide Arrange Tools Add-ons Help

Last edit was 3 hours ago

Background Layout Theme Transition

1

RELATIVE PRONOUNS

Relative pronouns begin a phrase that describes a noun in more detail. These phrases are called relative clauses or adjective clauses. Fill in a relative pronoun that completes each sentence, and then place the completed sentence on the correct train.

RELATIVE PRONOUNS

Relative pronouns begin a phrase that describes a noun in more detail. These phrases are called relative clauses or adjective clauses. Fill in a relative pronoun that completes each sentence, and then place the completed sentence on the correct train.

The train takes us to the next stop blows its whistle.

Simon, new boots hurt her feet, whines and pouts.

Nora was an orphan, hoped to be adopted.

The feather stuck against the tooth ran down my face.

Martina's mother told her she would return, waited for a long time.

Mr. Book, looks old, smiles at me.

When I Was Young in the Mountains Compound and Complex Sentences

File Edit View Insert Format Slide Arrange Tools Add-ons Help

Last edit was 3 hours ago

Background Layout Theme Transition

1

COMPOUND & COMPLEX SENTENCES

Click and drag the sentences strips and place them in the correct pocket.

COMPOUND & COMPLEX SENTENCES

Click and drag the sentences strips and place them in the correct pocket.

COMPOUND SENTENCES

When I was young in the mountains, we walked across the cow pasture and through the woods, carrying our towels.

Mr. Crawford and Mrs. Crawford looked alike, and they always smelled of sweet milk.

We pumped pails of water from the well at the bottom of the hill, and we heated the water for our baths.

Afterward we stood in front of the old black stove while Grandmother heated cocoa on top.

We listened to frogs sing at dusk, and we awoke to cowbells outside our windows, but sometimes a black snake came in the yard, too.

I never wanted to go to the ocean when I was young in the mountains.

COMPLEX SENTENCES

<TYPE SENTENCE HERE>

<TYPE SENTENCE HERE>