

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Links to Digital Assessments	p. 3
Introduction	p. 4-6
Homework	p. 7
Pages 1-25 of A Long Walk To Water (vivid verbs)	p. 8-13
Pages 26-56 of A Long Walk To Water (order of adjectives)	p. 14-20
Pages 57-89 of A Long Walk To Water (comparative adverbs)	p. 21-27
Pages 90-end of A Long Walk To Water (figurative language)	p. 28-33

Nothing had ever tasted so good as those pieces of honeycomb dripping with rich, luscious gold sweetness.
~A Long Walk To Water (p. 28)

INTERACTIVE ACTIVITIES

Nothing had ever tasted so good as those pieces of honeycomb dripping with rich, luscious gold sweetness.
~A Long Walk To Water (p. 28)

Nothing had ever tasted so good as those pieces of honeycomb dripping with rich, luscious gold sweetness.
~A Long Walk To Water (p. 28)

Nothing had ever tasted so good as those pieces of honeycomb dripping with rich, luscious gold sweetness.
~A Long Walk To Water (p. 28)

Monday – possibilities of things to notice
*descriptive – adjectives (sensory) & adverbs (to show extent) multiple adjectives – comma between rich and luscious (same category – condition)

simple sentence compound word – honeycomb
abstract noun – sweetness participial phrase – dripping with...sweetness prepositional phrases

Tuesday – label the Nothing – pronoun had – helping verb
ever, so, as – adverb
tasted – verb
good, those, rich, luscious, gold – adjectives pieces, honeycomb, sweetness – nouns of, with dripping

Nothing had ever tasted so good as those pieces of sticky honeycomb dripping with rich, luscious gold sweetness.

Wednesday – possibility of imitation sentence
Nothing had ever felt so refreshing as the spray of warm water splashing over my tired, aching body.

Thursday – possibility of imitation sentence
Nothing had ever felt so refreshing as the spray of warm water splashing over my tired, aching body.

July 2
Name: Answer Key
Editing Assessment

Nothing had ever tasted so good as those pieces of honeycomb dripping with rich, luscious gold sweetness.

1. Circle the words that are used correctly:
Nothing had ever tasted so good as those pieces of honeycomb dripping with rich, luscious gold sweetness.

2. Fill in the chart with one more adjective for each category.

determiner	opinion	origin	material
her	ugly	African	plastic
the	soft	Egyptian	sandy

Fill in the blanks with adjectives to complete the sentences. You can use the chart in the correct order!

3. Uncle Salva had been in the desert for many days to cross the sandy desert.

4. Salva's shoes stood no chance against the burning sun.

5. Uncle pointed to the broken rocks.

6. Salva thought of the broken family.

QUIZZES

WITH

ANSWER

KEYS

